

Identify people who would be helpful to interview about this topic. For example, Oregon Department of Fish and Wildlife (ODFW) trains new hunters and issues hunting licenses, so they have a natural connection to those who may purchase and use shotgun wads. Other potential audiences include hunting suppliers, shooting range operators, and land managers where hunting takes place. Interview an older relative who has experience with shotguns and learn what it was like to use biodegradable wads 'back in the day'.

3. List local names and organizations below:

4. List interview questions you would like to ask your audience(s).